

Psycho-astrological Portrait and Monthly Forecasts

Here is the horoscope you asked for. It consists of two parts : an astrological portrait and an astral calendar for the coming months.

The psycho-astrological portrait concerns the subject born on January 28 1955 at 22h00, Paris (75)

The forecast study on 6 month begins on the month of September 2008.

Part one = Psycho-astrological portrait

The psychological portrait has been based on the positions of the Sun, the Moon, Mercury and Venus, as shown on the following pages.

It also takes into account the Ascendant (rising sign), meaning the zodiacal position of the east horizon of the natal chart, at the time of birth.

The interpretation conforms with the latest developments in modern astrology for the description of personality and psychoanalysis for the light of the subconscious. First of all come the basic elements of your personality and the backdrop of your existence as defined by the positions of the sun and the Ascendant.

The Sun and the Ascendant

Taking into consideration the position of the Sun and the Ascendant what follows represents the basic elements of your personality and the character traits which form the background of your existence.

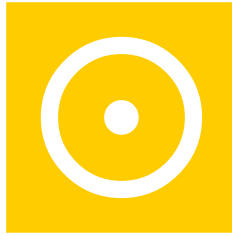

Subject's sign of birth = Aquarius
Subject's Ascendant = Virgo

Deep within, you want to run whenever uncomfortable material realities come too close. At times, you think it would be lovely to remain a spectator of this life, untouched by squalor, misery and injustice. This desire for security, even in a vacuum, is a definite facet of your character.

Along with this, however, the time of your birth has provided you with keen observation, and an ability to analyze details which nails down whatever is 'otherworldly' in your nature. There is always a possibility that you may neglect crass-realities in favour of a fling at high jinks, adventure and pure independence. A desire for change, and the unique individuality which makes you want to get off the beaten path, to upset the apple-cart and outlaw prejudices are also part of your very interesting character.

Perhaps it's just as well that your behaviour is more docile and conforming than your desires. Your sense of thrift, both physical and moral, gives you wisdom. You need order and discipline to reassure that timid side of you which fears the unknown - though still yearning for the latter in your heart of hearts. The inherent reflection and critical sense of a Virgo is ever present, and this spares the Aquarius side of you from the disillusion that is all too common in the workaday world. Even more fortunate is that it warns you of it in advance.

Your assets :

- Your basic curiosity, which makes you seek absolutes and grandeur.
- Even though you see far, you still don't miss the indispensable immediate details. In this case, your keen sense of observation helps your own imagination.
- The ability to forget yourself.
- There is no malice in you, nor is there envy or bitterness.

Your weaknesses :

- Your principal weakness is your limited sensitivity.
- You certainly have a social and humanitarian conscience, which however, is more intellectual than heartfelt.
- You flee passion to avoid being upset or perhaps from fear of being unable to respond sufficiently.

Seeking balance :

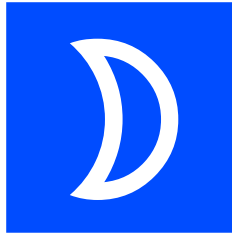

You will be able to fulfil yourself through friendship. Understanding and wise, you will frequently be called upon for advice and comfort. Being a mainstay, a rock for others to lean on is quite a satisfactory role in life. Even better, research, and particularly scientific research, could provide you with rare joy and happiness.

Health :

Beware of all signs of nervous tension, and nip them in the bud so that they don't bring on physical illness.

Your destiny =

Your kind of person is appreciated socially. You don't have a robust constitution, however, and must compensate for your lack of vital energy with intellectual endurance. Your luck resides in this, and it could bring you unhopd for success. Any solid achievement should be based on family life, and it could be that your creative instinct and your supreme ambition could lead you to rekindle a dying flame.

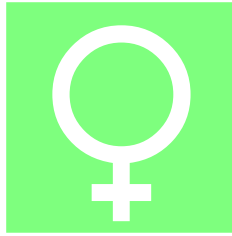

Taking this into consideration, combined with that of the Ascendant and the position of the Moon, the satellite closest to earth is a determining factor on the influence of our instincts and our hidden tendencies. It reigns over our dreams and meditations, our intuition and the manifestations of our unconscious.

The measured, cautious and calculating aspects of your personality are in striking contrast to your deeper perceptions of the world which incline you to look at your surroundings and other people as a sort of aggression or challenge, an excuse to retaliate violently and incisively. During periods of varying length, you may tend to lose control over your emotions and seem intolerant and excessive while normally you use every artifice to avoid any appearance of passionate commitment.

Because of the astrological situation in question, you may have a problem in lucidly and courageously recognizing these spells of illogic and violence rather than simply justifying them rationally in order to maintain some comfortable semblance of internal unity. Repressing your impulses threatens to make you destructive in your judgements at times, as if you were transforming into a sort of objective criticism an inherent propensity to seek confrontations whose only possible outcome would be the rapid elimination of the person who contradicted you. There is also a chance you may people your dreams with unexpressed terrors, images charged with anxiety and a feeling that life is worthless.

Your problems result from a difficulty in reconciling the conservative and rational tendencies of your acquired personality with the undisciplined, adventuresome and aggressive tendencies of your basic temperament.

Now it's Venus' turn, the evening star. It rules over the world of emotion and sentiment, our aesthetic sense, deep friendship and our ability to love.

The astrological configurations dealing with your emotional life show that your natural tendency to be warm and demonstrative may be frustrated by your cold rationality which is as attached to moral rigor and lucidity as your heart is to enthusiasm and exalted passion.

This duality in your nature may become manifest in alternating periods of relaxation and austerity during which you will tend to deny yourself and even regret your independence.

There is also a possibility that the ardour you expend in conquering and subsequently maintaining your love at a peak of passion is followed by periods during which you devote equal energy to becoming self-sufficient, fortifying your defences and seeking escape in study, work or abstract thought.

You may be inclined to expect too much of those you love and seek a partner of superior virtues who can stimulate your ambitions, but you are in any case too critical to remain long the captive of a figment of your imagination.

Nevertheless, the normal growth process may bring you to choose the realistic solutions which will assure you of a suitable emotional life from which you will have eliminated fearless involvements in favour of an understanding protected by a community of ideas and above all by the common interests which convert a couple into a close-knit and socially effective team.

Considering Sun signs alone, your chances of a successful relationship with others are generally as follows :

Virgo, Sagittarius :

Affinities which could turn into passionate attraction, but a relationship could be complex and accentuate the inner contradictions of both parties.

Gemini, Pisces :

Complementary relationships, more suitable for work and professional commitments than any passionate intimacy.

Aries, Libra :

Common interests and friendship with your heart more or less involved. But your minds are too far apart.

Taurus, Scorpio :

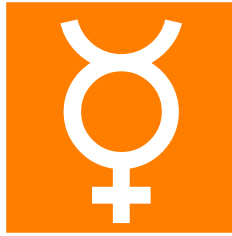

A relationship with Taurus could be stable and rewarding after a difficult period. Greater moral complicity than emotional harmony with Scorpio.

Cancer, Capricorn :

Moral and intellectual understanding. Affinities virtually nil on all other level.

Leo, Aquarius :

Many emotional points in common, but little likelihood that your characters will ever coincide.

Mercury, the planet which turns about the Sun at the greatest speed dominates our intellectual activities. It rules over the world of reason and intelligence.

From what we can see from reading your astrological chart, yours is a mind which is inventive, open to new ideas and which is deeply concerned with all contemporary problems. A keen observer and intuitive, your mind is enriched by contacts with others. You can learn as much from conversing with others as from your own personal experience.

Nevertheless, you are even more sensitive to the hidden and obscure side of things than to the all too obvious evidence of reality. However, your intense wish to remain logical makes you look askance at the fantasies of your imagination. To add a last note to this brief portrait, we might also add that there is a conflict between your temperament which is basically reserved and somewhat anxious, and your mental outlook which tends to be daring and even adventuresome.

Personalities of this type are generally original because of a knack they have in believing the impossible which stems from the richness of their irrepressible imagination. Nevertheless, their inherent exactitude more often than not and fortunately seeks sound bases for their beliefs and opinions. If you are unable to achieve such a balance, however, you may experience some difficult periods during which you will abruptly alternate from exuberant enthusiasm to deep depression. At times the world will appear wonderful and newly created, at others you will feel only bitterness and deep disappointment. Remember that the disillusion lies but within yourself. Furthermore, if your imagination gets the upper hand on your sense of logic and rationality, there is a risk you could simply engage in futile mental gymnastics and erect systems with no common bond to reality. This in itself would be your way of escaping your inner contradictions.

You could on the other hand find balance in activities requiring both your talents for analysis and critical sense and your imagination. The latter in fact should be cultivated, for you are remarkably intuitive and can anticipate the future and see all the good and bad it may contain.

In your astrological profile above, we have sketched your subconscious, your heart's disposition to love and be loved, your general skills and your intelligence.

Part two = Astral calendar

This astral calendar has been drawn up according to the position in your birth sky during the next periods (1 lunar period = 4 weeks), the Sun and six planets = three fast-moving planets (Venus, Mars and Mercury) and three slow-moving ones (Jupiter, Saturn and Uranus).

 The more important features are indicated by one two, or three asterisks.

First of all, the reader will discover the information which corresponds to the influence of the fast-moving planets, the most important will be indicated by one, two or three asterisks. Some of the information might only concern a portion of a period, that is to say a few days. Then, towards the end of the document, you'll find the interpretations concerning the slow-moving planets, where the role is frequently essential. As for the latter, there isn't place to be surprised, nor the length of the period nor the over lapping of dates.

By bringing to light the trends in your future and alerting you to periods which are favourable and others that are less so, this document will enable you to act when the time is ripe, or on the contrary, to be cautious.

In any case, you should not forget that, while the stars may exert an influence, they are not a determining factor, and that since man has free-will, he/she remains the master of his/her fate.

Attention

Certain paragraphs might be repeated in several periods. This is normal, and corresponds to the continuity, or the repetition of the astral configurations.

Period from 30 august to 29 september 2008

-1- During of entire period

The favourable position of the Sun in the twelfth house, which covers the world of our trials, leads us to expect that you will undergo these days in a state of seclusion and isolation.

While continuing to play your role in society, you will tend to withdraw, to hide your thoughts and cultivate your 'secret garden'. It may be that this attribute will find its proper outlet in some form of activity in which discretion and a sense of mystery are especially well suited.

-2- During of entire period

The first house, which represents your true self, is influenced by Mercury, Venus and Mars. The benign presence of these three planets should mark a development in activity of the three fields of your aptitudes--understanding, loving and willing.

In a way, you should feel your senses, your intelligence and your heart become more sensitive and acute at this time. Hence you will observe in yourself a pleasant openness and receptiveness.

Period from 29 september to 28 october 2008

-1- During of entire period

The first house represents your aptitudes, temperament, inner self and character and in this case is seriously affected by the Sun.

In other words you will experience the highest coefficient of activity and attractiveness. This would be an excellent opportunity to take yourself in hand, to make the most of your assets. Your character as it is described in the psychological portrait in Astroflash assumes its most favourable aspects. You can rely on all your plus qualities emerging and need not worry overmuch about your weaknesses.

-2- During of entire period

Under the triple influence of Mercury, Venus and Mars on the second house (the sector governing your assets and personal fortune), you will feel a renewal of your aggressive spirit and an increase in your critical sense and debating abilities.

These positive faculties will be put to use to increase your capital assets. In addition, your artistic intuition and commercial instinct will flourish. You will see weaknesses, you will negotiate and you will argue--all sharply, as emotions dominate reason.

This quest for profit will become a major cause into which your entire being is passionately involved.

* -3- Toward the beginning of this period

During this period when the conjunction of the Sun and Mars will be passing through the position of Neptune at your birth, you can expect storms and upsets. Now, these may be wholly imaginary--not that their being so make them any less difficult to cope with, for your emotions will be hard to contain, whether or not they are justified. Should actual events transpire which disturb your established life pattern, then it's up to you to resolve confused situations and fight fire with fire.

* -4- Toward the beginning of this period

The dominant planetary influences at this time indicate a period of contradictory luck in which troubles galore could lead to limitless satisfactions. In your emotional life, a whole host of problems may arise requiring your keenest thinking and soundest judgement. Troubles too could crop up in your immediate environment, and here you must take care to stifle your habit of following the line of least resistance. Sometimes it's folly to take provisional solutions and double folly to ride the fence, trying to please everyone and pleasing no one.

When you know it's really best to commit yourself, go ahead and do so. there's also the chance of a platonic but warm friendship that could lead to complications.

* -5- Toward the beginning of this period

At this time, the problems and feelings characteristic of the planetary atmosphere will tend to call forth all your inner resources and balance. You'll be taking a rather jaundiced view of the world, and in reaction to this, feel an intensified and urgent need to be totally loved and to feel totally supported, with .00 per cent loyalty and devotion. Should this love be something less than perfect, you'll be apt to take stock of your life and feel you're missing a great deal, and wonder what's in store for you. There may be some satisfaction for those whose self-examination brings to light new reasons for believing in their ideal. For the rest, this may be a time of discovering untold spiritual values.

Period from 28 october to 27 november 2008

-1- During of entire period

Your mind concentrates on profit and your powers of realisation are accentuated by the presence of the Sun and Mercury in the second house, that which governs your personal fortune. You will find this an appropriate time to buy and sell, to trade or speculate.

This would be a good time to try to augment your assets, to sign deeds or make long-term contracts. Your sharpened commercial sense and business acumen should nonetheless not prevent you from showing your customary generous and even rather extravagant nature.

-2- During of entire period

It is your immediate associates who are involved in the third house, over which Venus and Mars are reigning. You will feel yourself inclined to form closer relationships with your neighbours or professional colleagues.

Either through correspondence or while on a trip you may form intimate contacts. You may also become closer to a brother, a sister or a quite disinterested third party for the purpose of profiting from common interests.

 -3- Toward the beginning of this period

This is your Venusian anniversary, meaning that Venus has returned to the position in the zodiac that it occupied at your birth.

This time will be apt to accentuate your sensitivity, somewhat distort your volatile feelings and in a way, blow up your affections.

You'll feel your heart beating at a different rhythm. Take care not to let down those who have proved their love.

* -4- Half-way through this period

The Sun will be making a favourable passage through the position held by Saturn at your birth.

From an astrological standpoint, this planet represents the darker side of your nature and the way you face up to life's more basic problems. Saturn has to do with your ability to do many things - to forget the past, to surrender present security for future gain, to abandon the acquired in order to march forward, to gladly lose in order to win, to die in order to live.

Saturn's influence will appear in its most constructive form. you will have the opportunity to simplify, consolidate and enrich your life. This is a time for serious thought, intellectual and spiritual meditation. A little effort in this direction would be worthwhile, for you will thereby come closer to the basic realities of life.

Period from 27 november to 27 december 2008

-1- During of entire period

Your mind will focus upon your close associates as the third house--that governing your relationship with associates--is influenced by the presence of the Sun, Mercury and Mars. This is a time when you can assert yourself positively among your associates, be they professional colleagues, neighbours, brothers and sisters or other relatives.

This would be a propitious time to launch new projects and to make yourself felt in professional matters. You should master your impetuosity and channel your energies in order to make the most of that part of you which is canniest and most clear-sighted.

-2- During of entire period

Doubtless you will feel the happy influence of Venus on your home life--symbolized in this case by the fourth house which represents your family. You will be in agreement with those around you, and will 'hit it off' with those who share your home. In this time, too, you will feel impelled to improve your surroundings--to re-decorate your house. Your ideas in the aesthetic field would be very suitable should you be house-hunting and if fortune has already smiled on you in this respect, then you will no doubt embellish the lodgings you already have. You will fully enjoy beautifying and improving.

You will feel no need to go out, as you find all your pleasures in the cosy comforts of home.

 -3- Half-way through this period

The Sun in harmony will now be passing through the position held by Venus in the sky of your birth.

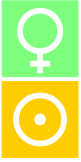

This is the time of year when the "venusian" aspect of your nature blossoms - that is, your sentimental ties, your happiness from being loved, the gregarious side of you which likes to be flanked by friends and which entertains happily at home.

During this time, you can more or less count on your feelings to assert themselves and flourish. Your heart may turn flip flops, either from a new flame or from the intensification of a current relationship. You may feel very content due to the happy family atmosphere at home, and you may find some satisfaction in the housing field. Definitely, your love life will benefit from a stroke of luck.

* -4- Half-way through this period

Congratulations, these are quite obviously lucky days. If you've been unhappy or suffering, chances are that the Sun will once again shine on your life. If all has been well with you, then this beneficial turn will bring on extra blessings - new heart conquests, perhaps monetary rewards or success. Here's where your luck lies, so make the most of it.

* -5- Half-way and towards the end of this period

Celestial Mars in harmony now returns to a conjunction with Venus in the sky of your birth.

As this configuration stresses your sensitivity and sensual excitability, it may lead to warmer affections and even to intense passion.

Generally speaking, this is experienced in a rekindling of an amorous flame. Desires intensify, affections become more demonstrative, one's heart-felt desires beckon more urgently, relationships grow warmer. This trend could also be directed outside your domestic circle, with your friends, for instance. You'll feel a tingling appreciation and zest for all life's pleasures.

Period from 27 december to 26 january 2009

-1- During of entire period

Your home is a privileged spot. The fourth house, the symbol of home, is influenced by two planets, Mercury and Mars, and this is intensified by the presence of the Sun in this sector.

Changes may occur and in your family life relations may be strengthened. A new pattern of authority may emerge, there will be a chance to create the spirit of revolt. these will be delicate weeks in which you should use all your ability--you'll need it to push through the reforms you want.

-2- During of entire period

During these days of emotional uproar you must beware. Your appetite for life and your will to love, if expressed too vociferously, could be the reason behind your rebuffs.

The unfavourable position of Venus in the fifth house, that which governs pleasure and love, leads us to advise you to exercise extreme caution. so long as this astrological situation holds, your judgment will be slightly off. Your implicit trust in whoever attracts you and your desire to believe that everything is perfect thus makes you liable to be the victim of illusions you yourself have created.

Period from 26 january to 25 february 2009

-1- During of entire period

The Sun will now act favourably on the fifth house which governs the world of creation and recreation. With your wish to please and your intense need for sociability, you will be attracted to all that is brilliant and spectacular, to leisure activities and the arts. You will find success through your hobbies. You will be tempted by speculation and this will probably be fortunate. During this period your instincts will not let you down. Such a relaxed atmosphere will also give you increased sensitivity regarding teaching and education. This would be a good time to take an interest in a child, to get to know him and give him a helping hand.

-2- During of entire period

You should devote great attention to your home, for the fourth house of which it is the symbol is influenced by the two planets Mars and Mercury. Hence you will find yourself impelled to make some changes at home--perhaps establish new rules for instance.

Take care not to abuse your authority (if your position allows you to do so) even when this wielding of power seems called for. Weigh the reasons behind your desire to move-- or in fact the undertaking of any real-estate operations. be tolerant and try to make harmony reign within your home.

-3- During of entire period

Venus will be in discord in the seventh house, and you should therefore be careful, for your happiness may be seriously compromised both in your home and social life.

This is hardly the best time to undertake agreements or associations or to sign contracts, all of which fall within the field of the seventh house. Consequently it would be better to avoid all engagements during this time, and to postpone to a later date all proposed joint action or collaboration.

 -4- Half-way through this period

At this time, the dominant configurations stress your inborn propensity to lead a rich and varied social existence. There'll be continuous meetings, gatherings and discussions pulsating with intellectual and cultural fireworks. Yet though all this activity is very much your cup of tea, there may be a severe disadvantage which is that you might feel your pride has been wounded, that there's been a challenge to your own self-image or possibly even an out and out attack. Thus, events at this time could assume the aspect of a dual, a huge obstacle that you dread tangling with and yet that you must overcome lest it overcome you. Here again, you'll need to take stock of your fighting capabilities and your adaptability to new situations.

* -5- Half-way through this period

To be quite frank, this isn't a particularly fun time for you. As you'll be living at a high emotional pitch, you may run into some trouble with the object (or objects) of your affections. Briefly, this is a time when disappointments and minor annoyances may be amplified to an exaggerated degree. If you feel that your toes have been trod on perhaps it's because you dared someone to tread on them. Shrug off petty irritations, be too big to be little. During this time your health may require a check-up or protective measures, particularly as to your digestive system and glands. There may also be some upset to your hormonal balance. Have your metabolism checked, if you feel unwell.

* -6- Half-way and towards the end of this period

Although the dominant configurations indicate this will be a promising period for your affections, there'll also be some tension and conflict accompanying the pleasure. You may find yourself involved in situations containing as many causes for irritation as for rejoicing-as for example, some unwanted relative of your loved one accompanying you both on an outing. Now, however you take this period is up to you, you can so dwell on the drawbacks that you fail to enjoy the advantages. After all, life is seldom an unalloyed pleasure, even the happiest moments often are tinged with melancholy. So concentrate on the good parts, on the highs rather than the lows of this term.

According to the position of Jupiter from 30 august to 27 december 2008

Jupiter's presence in the fourth house, the section representative of roots : home, family, will be likely to have good repercussions in the field of one's private life. Remember it's an ace up your sleeve to value the already healthy family environment, to make it more fertile, rich, blessed with simplicity, quite possibly improving, if possible, the relationships at the heart of one's home or towards one's parents.

You'll feel a stronger and freer attachment, in a loving climate, clearing up the future with an optimistic view. You'll give back to your roots in affinity with one's family history, one's past. The putting down of roots could also be material, with an improvement to your habitat : there is the possibility of real estate acquisitions or a move, if not organising the current residence, or some upgrading could happen in such favourable conditions.

The interest of existence will in any case take on the intimate cell, in terms of the pleasure of being home, in a more loving context where you can bloom better, in the eyes of those who love you, your parents or your own family. On the other hand, you could be put to sleep a bit, letting yourself be deluded by the familial tranquillity, by the softness of a private, more relaxed, facile situation. Thus your fighting spirit, your closed nature, firmness, rigid personality, particularly concerning your professional activities will be slackened, slightly losing some speed and motivation, without really risking any serious problems. All the same it'll be good to stay available and in tune with professional movements.

If your private life should find itself in the process of a deep crisis, this Jupiterian phase could, on the contrary, highlight the sickness, the emotional excitement, tending to bring to make the situation explode in order to arrive at a solution that finally clears matters up. Similarly, troubles or disorder in your insecure social position could sharply accentuate the insecurity and necessitate careful vigilance.

According to the position of Saturn from 30 august 2008 to 25 february 2009

In this period you'll be entering into a zone of being more sensitive to existential problems, due to the fact of the presence of Saturn in the section of moral tests, physical effort, worries, these being a function of the weak point in each.

These areas at stake could thus be different from case to case, going to legal, material, complex circumstances, to psychic states of anxiety, passing through being physically below par, lacking energy, even being fragile. Nevertheless, above all it'll be in its own sphere that you'll be affected, the moral climate being darkened by the weight of thought, self-reflection, negative impressions, the fact of regret, return to the past, the unhealthy upheaval at the hollow of your memories, the present becoming a synonym for failure, of being poorly carrying out, of stagnation, and limitation.

This slightly anguished gloominess, more or less depressing, could spread and reduce the organic resistance, health risking to be subject to some psychosomatic problems, but nevertheless not to be taken lightly. In other words, it's the annoyances of everyday life that'll be more difficult to bear, constraints seeming more stifling, the pressure of disagreements more stressful. Because of this, or even without any valid reason, a desire to isolate, to withdraw or of solitude could appear, in order to favour a need to re-immense oneself in one's heart of truth and undoubtedly to proceed to changes in judgement leading more or less to renunciations and sacrifices. This dive into more or physical "pain" will thus open a door towards wisdom, having the courage to take stock of oneself in order to better tackle life with strength and resulting in being more grown up from this phase.

According to the position of Jupiter from 27 december 2008 to 25 february 2009

Jupiter will be crossing through the fifth house throughout these weeks or month, and you'll find yourself at ease in this section of love, the nice things in life, vacations, the joys of motherhood or fatherhood, of games or have a gift for artistic matters.

Love life, especially, will bloom in the context of current ties or in a climate of new encounters, easy and nice relations, in an extension of your World of contacts in the largest sense, just as easily to friends, lovers, children. Obviously, there will be the risk of being too frivolous, carefree, getting involved in thoughtless affairs which are likely to upset well-established ties.

But if you keep your self-control, you could benefit from a beautiful wave of emotional satisfaction with those that you love. Agreements, understandings, attraction, could re-launch loves that were running out of steam; and in the case of the single, you will be awakened to the desire for a new conquest, having only to watch out for excesses. Along the same lines, you'll be in the mood for looking for the relaxation of leisure, distraction, being little inclined to dwell on grave concerns.

This taste for pleasure will be accompanied by contacts and exchanges; it could even go as far as trying your luck at gambling. In this context, you won't be disappointed in your speculations, luck being rather profitable, as long as you stay amused with reasonable sums because there could be risk involved with big sums. You'll be successful at board games. Just like artists, creators will arrange with all their assets to successfully devote yourself to recreational activities, while being careful not to overestimate yourself.

This passage will be favourable to the plan for children. Whoever wishes for motherhood or fatherhood will have their chance to see their wish fulfilled. Those who already have some will be happy with their relationships with them; it's a period of parental happiness.
