

Solar Return (Predictions between two birthdays)

The following prediction concerns the subject born on January 28 1955 at 22h00, Paris (75)

It begins on the subject's birthday from January 28 MM 2008 at 17h46, Paris (75)

This forecast covers your solar year. It extends over twelve months, from your birthday to your following birthday. Nevertheless, it is not necessary to wait until then before making such a forecast.

At your request, we can immediately provide you with a report on the current year or one on the following year, as well as a combination of both. With such predictions in hand, you will have plenty of time to make your plans, taking into account the good and bad periods you're likely to encounter.

According to astrological principles, each year in your life constitutes a separate unit requiring a comparison between the current situation and the situation at your birth.

Thanks to a particularly elaborate program, Astroflash can now make a careful analysis of the astrological factors affecting you during this year. In this report, you will find the general influences emanating from the most important planets, those whose movements govern the vital stages in your future and its development.

You should bear in mind that the true value of this report depends a great deal on the precision of the hour of your birth. Furthermore, whatever the trend indicated by the position of the planets, you should remember that the celestial influences are meant to be used only as indicators and certainly not as a substitute for your freedom of choice.

Astrology does not deal with inevitable, it is left up to you to use this information as a guide for future action.

Be careful !

Your astrological anniversary, that is to say the moment when the sun returns to the same position it was in at your birth, may fall on the day before or the day after your birthday. Do not be surprised should this occur. It is not a mistake.

Dominant influences

The following tendencies refer to a major trend whose effects you may have felt last year and which may last beyond your solar year. They are particularly strong at this time, however, and you should consider them as predominant.

One of the powerful trends in your life this year will be thanks to the benign influence that jupiter exerts on your social and professional life. This constitutes a major factor which should help you in fulfilling your ambitions. The stars indicate a combination of fortunate circumstances which would provide much satisfaction for your ego and enable you to distinguish yourself among your colleagues.

This planetary situation implies that you'll win some kind of award or prize, that your efforts will be recognized and your authority confirmed. In other words, promotion is a distinct possibility, as are honors or a better job. It's always been true that people tend to recognize and appreciate your competence. So this lucky period will be bound to boost you even further. from a psychological standpoint, you will feel the need to show off a bit, to do spectacular things, perhaps to seek some sort of celebrity or more simply just to win others' consideration. Your desire to get to the top will tend to inspire you, both in thought and deed. In fact, you may discover some surprising untapped creative drives coming to the fore.

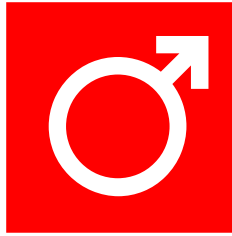

A second major planetary trend also affects your annual sky.

Remember that this influence may have already shown itself and may extend into the following year.

Because of jupiter's position in relationship to the moon of your birth, during this year you can expect a benign influence to shine upon your private life. Such a configuration acting on your personal well-being will automatically incline you to seek the joys of companionship and the pleasure of 'calm, luxe et volupte'. Indeed, this influence may induce you to change your surroundings and your way of life. In some cases, you may be consciously on the lookout for new pals, different friends, other loves to enrich your lifestyle. On the other hand, it may be you yourself who change, adapting and being more flexible in order to create a more harmonious atmosphere in your daily surroundings.

One thing for sure, you will feel the need for close communication with others, even if it causes you to make surprising concessions or to sacrifice what you previously considered fundamental necessities. Furthermore, you'll probably care less about defending the principles you have stuck by for so long. Instead of principles, which are always abstract, you may, for the time being, prefer suiting your actions to the basic needs of your immediate group. In this respect, it's likely that you will experience an extremely generous, loving and unselfish phase in which you'll do your utmost to protect or boost those near and dear to you. And this is also a time when others can do much for you.

These two dominant trends are generally beneficial and thus should accentuate the fortunate aspects analyzed in the second part of your report. They will have the further advantage of diminishing less fortunate tendencies which may appear in one or another of the fields now to be considered.

The world of work

In this field, the tendencies analysed refer to your job and main line of work, your social relationship, professional contacts, ambitions and expectations...

This year your prospects involving your job or your main line of work will be affected by a contradictory influence from mars.

In other words, you may make important progress in the coming months but the doing will require intense effort and maybe even a bitter struggle against your adversaries.

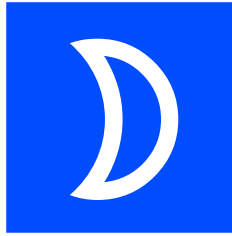

Do not assume that you are going to be successful in advance, and above all take care not to act on momentary impulses. Try to put yourself in your competitor's place and think for a moment as he would. Passionate rebellion on your part, and any inclination to be a heroic test-case would result in a terrible upset. In order to win, it's not enough merely to have right on your side. Might makes right. If you are champing at the bit for a good fight, remember that your rivals are also strong, and to attack might mean rushing blindly into a stone wall. If competition is fierce in your line of work, you may experience ups and downs like a yo-yo. But you should have plenty of energy at this time to get you out of any hole, even some pretty stimulating battles that events seem to propel you into. If you are calm by nature and love a regular ordered life, this astral influence may play havoc with your tranquil nine-to-five existence. You will have to be willing to grapple with new situations and roll with the punches.

Remark

The above tendencies coincide badly with those analyzed concerning your emotional relationships. This could have unfortunate repercussions on your job, or result in a broken friendship. Furthermore, there is the possibility that chronic anxiety resulting from an unsatisfactory emotional situation could lead you to neglect your business and quench your ardent competitive spirit. However, by grit and determined effort you should be able to reverse the situation so that eventually your success at work will help you solve personal worries or at least manage to keep them at bay.

The following planetary aspect also applies to the annual trends in this field, but remember that its influence is minor and does not outweigh the preceding predictions.

Although dominant influences are very good, you will have to be on guard lest the intoxicating whiff of success or promotion does not tempt you to abuse your power. Also there's a possibility that you may be competing with influential people, if not opposing them.

The world of finances

This part deals with your financial affairs, your earnings, expenditures, budget and lifestyle, unexpected windfalls, hidden expenses...

This year, the moon will be affecting your financial situation and all money matters. Fortunately most of the planetary aspects concerned are beneficial and could bring about a distinct improvement in your income, a more comfortable way of life and perhaps large-scale capital transactions. But though the dominant trend year may benefit your general prosperity, it does not necessarily mean that you will increase your savings. For no matter how you usually handle your budget, at this time you'll be far more inclined to go on spending sprees. Money will seem to burn a hole in your pocket. Yet during this prodigal period, you may develop some good ideas on how to increase your earnings. Lady luck will tend to give you extra confidence in the future and indeed may make you so optimistic that you see no point in cutting down expenses. So that if you don't watch out, despite your extra income, you may find yourself strapped at the end of the month.

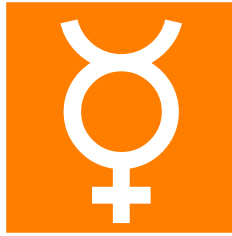

This would especially apply to those who by nature have trouble in limiting themselves. Others will know how to increase their assets through judicious investments. In this respect, the annual situation is favorable to rather large-scale purchases such as house furnishings or indeed houses themselves.

Remark

Because of the important interference between astrological indicators, the fulfillment of the above tendencies will be favored by your social and cultural contacts and your relationships with those close to you. Along the same lines, it appears that better communication within your circle of immediate friends will somehow bring support in achieving your material goals. Travel and meeting people on trips may also contribute much and provide some intriguing contacts. The interference in question indicates frequent collaboration and happy give and take with your nearest and dearest.

The following planetary aspect also applies to the annual trends in this field, but remember that its influence is minor and does not outweigh the preceding predictions.

The aspect dominating your financial situation confirms your strong points. Without notice you may receive some rousing good news about your finances. It could come from a stroke of luck, and probably will stem more from a bright idea than from your actual labors. Also there's an indication that you'll be in razor-sharp mental form to successfully conclude some knotty transactions.

The field of love

Here we are concerned with your emotional attachments, friendships and far more intimate relationships, passionate loves... and even hatreds.

Mercury will be affecting the ups and downs in your love life during the course of this year. This influence is the result of contradictory configurations, some of them harmonious and others dissonant. As a result, you may become rather in a quandry as to your own romantic leanings. Unless you push forward with a conquering spirit as a result of this year's main trend (to be found in the first part of this report), mercury will be requiring you to back off a bit from others, and make you give logic and your critical senses priority over your heart's preferences.

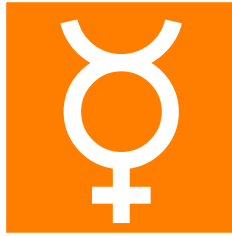

Although at times you may be emotionally drawn to someone, you'll be inclined to fight this attraction or try to transform it into a platonic relationship rather than a warmer one. There is also the chance that you yourself could become the object of a simple friendship when you had hoped for something more. Thus you will both hesitate to go beyond a certain point and potentially marvelous situations could inconclusively fade away into dissatisfaction. the atmosphere is such that you may become more critical of those whom you had greatly admired and whom you had taken as model. You will not break off or separate from them, but simply seek more independence. Furthermore, you will have less of a hold on those who are dependent on you. Thus problems with your children (if any) are a possibility.

Remark

There seems to be a bit of conflict, or at least incompatibility, between the above-mentioned tendencies and those less fortunate ones concerning your private life. In other words, from time to time some sort of domestic irritation could hamper the smooth course of your friendships or lovelife. Along the same line of thinking, there is a likelihood that the persons in the world who are closest to you may cast a cloud over your satisfactions or alter your plans. Even if this should happen, however, nothing can prevent your charging ahead provided you make due allowance for the difficulties raised by your intimates. Forewarned is forearmed.

The following planetary aspect also applies to the annual trends in this field, but remember that its influence is minor and does not outweigh the preceding predictions.

Because of a planetary aspect accentuating the dominant trend, relationships based on spiritual affinities will be of poignant significance this year. The romantic side of life and even your tenderest relationships may seem less important as a result. Rather, you'll be more inclined to turn to those who understand you best and share similar values.

The domain of the family

This part deals with your private life, family relationships, ascendants, descendants and spouse as well as with your personal surroundings, your home and environment.

This year a contradictory influence will be affecting the atmosphere of your relationships with your near and dear and the prospects of your homelife. With the configuration in question, you have small hope of finding clear-cut solutions to the joint projects your little group is working on. Where a united stand is required, you may have to put up with hemming and hawing on the part of your colleagues.

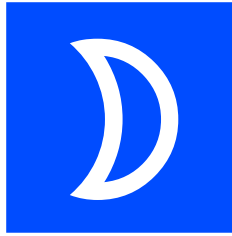

But though they may drag their feet, that doesn't mean that you yourself are perfect-especially if you are wedded to your own opinions. In fact, some silly incident could get your back up and make you mulishly obstinate. And also, current fads and fancies could now glaringly reveal the gulf that has always existed between you in taste and preferences. You must be willing to try to bridge the chasm that separates you. Right now it would be a good idea to handle everyone with kid gloves, make yourself receptive and cut out any tendency you have to get in the last word--no matter how incisive, telling or witty it might be. Try to learn to appreciate other people's values.

Remark

The above tendencies will become all the more probable this year if you can keep at a distance anyone whose character you consider unfortunate or tyrannical. Keep such people away from your home and away from anything representing a quiet haven in your life. Blessed oases deserve to be protected. A negative astral interference between your private life and friends indicates that the sensible thing would be for you to protect the people you care most about from the heartaches of passion--that is as much as you can. This year there is a possibility that your homelife is so beatific as to make heavy personal expenditures seem cheap at the price. Contrariwise, this contradictory configuration could mean a lot of jarring dissension among those who share your life= friends, acquaintances and family.

The following planetary aspect also applies to the annual trends in this field, but remember that its influence is minor and does not outweigh the preceding predictions.

A planetary aspect will reinforce your odds if you should meet opposition in fulfilling your plans. Using your intelligence to find original solutions may be the best way to solve your personal difficulties. Make the most of this trend to have a more open mind concerning those close to you.

The world of free time

This field covers your leisure activities and personal interests of every kind, travel hobbies, reading, study, vacation, friendships...

A positive lunar influence should be encouraging to your leisure activities particularly if the way you relax and unbend involves no tremendous physical exertion. Consequently, to keep in tune with your sky, you would do best to let go completely, leaving all plans and projects to others, and merely enjoy group activities that someone else has thoroughly prepared in advance. You'll be inclined toward spur-of-the-moment entertainment, giving your imagination full play, and your pleasure this year will be conditioned by this mode of operation.

The configuration in question also favors exchanging ideas on literary or artistic subjects. In such fields, particularly if you've always before tended to ignore passing fads, you'll probably want to make up for lost time and bring your tastes up to date. Anyway, to do so would be a good idea regardless of whether you feel yourself suddenly illuminated. The current planetary trend means that you will tend to be receptive to all that is simple, natural and obvious. Another aspect is to make all human contacts easier, and to broaden your discussions with friends and loved ones. You'll be able to chat with them about anything under the sun--and more.

Remark

Your annual sky shows that the above tendency is linked with your financial affairs. This may be an indication of the money you're willing to lavish on making beautiful vacation memories for the future. It also seems possible that an increase in your income will make a dream come true--a very private dream you've had for many years. A change in fortune may have the effect of making you much more demanding and selective regarding what you do in your leisure time.

Definitely, your thoughts in this direction will change as a result of variations in your financial position.

The following planetary aspect also applies to the annual trends in this field, but remember that its influence is minor and does not outweigh the preceding predictions.

Here your luck is confirmed by a harmonious planetary aspect which particularly favors any and all leisure activities. Through travel, for instance, or just exploring your own little corner of the world, you can cater to your love for the beautiful, curious or exotic, or you can discover new areas with which you are emotionally linked. This celestial aspect also favors adding to your list of acquaintances, and getting to know all sorts of people outside your usual run-of-the-mill.

Physical and mental balance

This field, which in principle concerns your physical health and well-being, may also touch on some of the more hidden facets of your personality...

This year, your health as a whole will be subject to a contradictory influence from saturn. This indicates some delicacy or infirmity. Still and all, you will have plenty of room for action. And in order for you to be hale and hearty, the most important thing will be not to give in to either discouragement or temptation. you'll have to steel yourself not to follow the easiest course. It is easier, for instance, to accept a gooey dessert than to say no, easier to sit on in a smoke-filled room than to leave it and go for a walk. Even more than the pressure of circumstances, your exercise of your freedom of choice will be the determining factor in how you feel. It will be up to you to settle strictly personal questions such as what to eat and drink and how much. Saturn in this case could reflect your doubts and indecisions, the interior debate that you will have to win before finding your own prescription for a clean bill of health. Never mind making heroic resolutions impossible to keep--just be sensible. Saturn's influence will require all your patience and will power. But remember that if you have the will, you have the power. You can eliminate habits that could damage your health.

Remark

Certain limitations will be put on the above tendencies, and therefore you will doubtless have to take counter measures against unfortunate circumstances which could dilute or even menace the favorable factors in this house. According to this interference, your enjoyments will not make you too optimistic. Despite the problems you may be able to work out, some will stubbornly resist your efforts.

Remaining cautious would be a good idea. Anyway, do not lose sight of the fact that the overall beneficial trend this year should help you prepare radical solutions for any points remaining in suspense.

The following planetary aspect also applies to the annual trends in this field, but remember that its influence is minor and does not outweigh the preceding predictions.

Lucky for you, the favorable dominant trend is accentuated here. So you'll be in a really superior position to make short shrift of any trouble. By dint of perseverance you should be able to dispose of the thorns in the flesh that have long been a source of pain and annoyance. As a result your personal security will be strengthened.
